August 21, 2019

PENDLETON, SC – FastFetch Corporation, known for developing innovative technologies to support distribution, logistics, and manufacturing operations, has been named to the 2019 list of 100 Great Supply Chain Partners by SupplyChainBrain. This year’s list, published in the August issue of SupplyChainBrain magazine, includes such well-known companies as IBM, Honeywell, Oracle, SAP, UPS, and FedEx.

The list of 100 Great Supply Chain Partners is compiled annually by SupplyChainBrain based upon nominations received from supply chain professionals. As stated by Brad Berger, Publisher, SupplyChainBrain, “For seventeen years running, SupplyChainBrain has published our much-anticipated list of 100 Great Supply Chain Partners — a select group of companies whose customers recognize them for providing outstanding solutions and services. Our six-month online poll of supply chain professionals requires a qualified response, asking them to nominate vendors and service providers whose solutions have made a significant impact on their company’s efficiency, customer service and overall supply chain performance. This year’s field of nominees was competitive and inspiring – coming from all sectors of supply chain management.”

As explained by Dr. Jack Peck, Co-founder and President of FastFetch, “This is the second year that FastFetch has been named to the list of 100 Great Supply Chain Partners. We are especially pleased to receive this honor because it comes from nominations by our customers who have recognized FastFetch for making significant enhancements in their operations. We are grateful to our customers for nominating us for this award.”

Garry Harper, VP for Sales and Marketing at FastFetch said, “We are delighted to be included in among the 100 Great Supply Chain Partners. This recognition shows that our technologies and services are helping companies across the US improve efficiencies in today’s fast-paced eCommerce environments.”
